Pearl Fletcher - "A Life Well Lived"

Pearl Fletcher, of Anola, IL, passed away on December 5, 2017. Pearl was born May 1, 1953 in Twin Falls, Idaho to parents Helena and Jeremy Amedisi. She was an adventurous child, according to her brother Phillip, but her priority was always caring for others. Pearl attended the University of Idaho, received a degree in social work and met her husband Harold.

The happy couple settled in Kippah, a suburb of Chicago and raised their son, Christopher and daughter, Jessica.

After working for 30 years as a child advocate in the foster care system, Pearl retired at the age of 58. She spent her final years enjoying the successes of her children, and basking in the love of her five grandchildren: Mackenzi, Sarah, Brendan, Courtney, and James. Pearl's son Christopher says the family is devastated by the loss, and stated, "My mother was taken too soon. If she had appropriate care, she should have survived this battle." Her legacy will live on in the way she loved and cared for others: with fierce compassion and grace. Share your stories of remembrance on Saturday, December 10th at Herald's Funeral Home from 3pm-5pm.
